

What You Told Us

The message from community members was both powerful and clear:

- When asked which environmental action was most desirable to be undertaken, 49% of Sudburians selected 'lake and stream clean-up'. This was followed closely by 'regreening' (46%), 'education of the public' (44%) and 'wildlife habitat creation' (38%).
- 66% told us the most important reasons for improving our local environment is to leave a healthier environment for the next generation, and 42% want to improve the quality of our outdoor leisure activities.

We also heard that community members want to get involved, and to act on a sense of personal accountability. We heard that the actions we take should be based on science, while also taking the community's priorities into account.

And we heard that funding these actions should include significant commitment from Vale and Sudbury INO, a Glencore Company.

Each and every comment we received was valued, and we thank you for your input.

The views and wishes of community members were important contributors to this Action Plan. We hope you see them reflected in the pages that follow.
